

THE EVENING STAR.

WASHINGTON.
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20, 1895.

CROSBY S. NOYES, Editor.

THE EVENING STAR has a regular and permanent circulation much more than the combined circulation of the other Washington dailies. As a News and Advertising Medium it has no competitor.

It is in order to avoid delays, on account of the absence of letters to THE STAR should not be addressed to any individual connected with the office, but simply to THE STAR, or to the Editor or Business Department, according to tenor or purpose.

There is no reason to doubt that Secretary Gresham has indicated to the Hawaiian government that Minister Thurston has become persona non grata. The severance of relations between Mr. Thurston and this government is unfortunate, for during a very trying period Mr. Thurston has demonstrated his great ability as a representative of the young republic at the capital of its nearest and most intimate neighbor. The special action on Mr. Thurston's part, upon which the request for his recall is based, is not definitely and certainly known.

Nothing has been suggested, however, which would constitute a violation of diplomatic rules with the recent action of the Italian minister in communicating directly with the governor of Colorado, or that of the Spanish minister in his public expressions during the recent excitement over the Alliance affair, in respect to which Secretary Gresham has, properly enough, given his self-control. Until something is learned to the contrary, the public will be that Secretary Gresham's action is the culmination of a case of mutual and personal incompatibility between him and Mr. Thurston, and that the Secretary is making a mountain out of a mole-hill, in order to be rid of a minister whom he personally dislikes, but whose entire course in this country has been marked by dignity, tact, ability and patriotic zeal for his country's welfare.

If our government is to permit personal prejudice to cause it to embarrass the young and troubled republic, and no forbearance or sympathetic consideration is to be shown in dealing with it and its representative, there is of course no reason to expect Hawaii to pursue a more magnanimous course. It would be reasonable for Mr. Willis to expect the handing to him of his own passport, for the American minister in carrying out the policy of Mr. Cleveland and his Secretary of State when they endeavored to restore Mrs. Dominis to the throne, and when they interfered with the recent treason trials, has inevitably made himself obnoxious to the Hawaiian government, and to the Hawaiian people, of an authorities. It is well to remember, of course, that in any controversy over Hawaiian affairs the administration does not represent the nation, and this fact robs anything that it may do in respect to Hawaii of much of its significance.

To some minds it may appear that Justice went very blind when he convicted two West Virginians who had hoped to buy green goods and were disappointed, and then allowed one of the swindlers to go free. The fault is not in convicting the former but in acquitting the latter. It must be remembered that men who try to buy counterfeit money, or who hope to get hold of genuine money in the midst of the transaction are swindlers at heart just as are the men who have them on. Every individual concerned in green-goods and swindlers put away from harm for a long period. It should not be that the law only permitted a trial of the men on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, though that is a serious enough offense. The green-goods game is so old, and has been exposed so many times that there is no excuse for any man of intelligence being caught by the glittering promises of wealth that the clever circulars and the swindlers hold out to the greedy countrymen. A few more cases like that which has just been tried here, if the latter is pushed to the end, as proposed by Judge Miller, will go far toward breaking up the game altogether.

Word comes that the Eastern Shore peach crop is not only safe, but that it promises to beat all records for size and quality. This is good news. No longer will the annual tidings from Delaware shock the fruit lovers of the country as of yore. With a new Delaware in the peach field that state's yearly freeze will not be half so appalling.

The unyielding support given by his followers to the senatorial candidacy of Mr. Addicks affords one of the most touching instances of devotion known to politics. It would be strange if even Mr. Addicks, worldly and calculating man though he may be, has not been touched.

Before going into an agreement as to which is the wildest city in the country, Chicago and St. Louis might do well to note the claims which Jackson City presents for condensed immorality.

Li Hung Chang is likely to find the olive-branch which he is now carrying into Japan one of the most expensive decorations in which he ever invested.

This is the twenty-eighth day over three years of work on the city post office building, and there were one hundred and thirteen men laboring there today.

The police force of New York City has been singularly active and prominent of late in providing business for the Grand Jury.

There are horrible suspicions in New York that Mr. Platt is camping on Dr. Parkhurst's lecture trail with a literary bureau.

Another instance of the carelessness of legislation enacted at the end of a session of Congress has come to hand in the matter of the provision in the sundry civil bill regarding the establishment of a children's playground on the ellipse south of the Executive Mansion. As the law now stands in strict construction it carries no appropriation for the preparation of this playground or for its care and maintenance during the next fiscal year. The item is as follows: "For improvement of grounds north and south of Executive Mansion, one thousand dollars; and for the purchase of public buildings and grounds shall authorize the use of a portion of the ground within the circle south of the Executive Mansion for a children's playground, under regulations to be prescribed by him." The experience with the playgrounds that were established on the Monument lot about five years ago shows that watchmen and policemen are necessary for the preservation of good order on the grounds and to prevent the encroachment of rough characters. Several thousand dollars should have been appropriated by the sundry civil bill for this purpose. It is probable that without a fund for the employment of patrolmen the grounds will be overrun by undesirable men, women, and by rough boys who will interfere with the rights and comfort of the little ones for whose use the grounds are evidently intended by the law. The White Lot is so situated that it naturally attracts to it a rather rough element and special precautions should be taken from that very fact. If the public playground were in another section of the city there would be less need of regulations enforced by watchmen or police, but under the existing conditions strong restrictions must be placed upon the use of the grounds if the little ones are to derive any benefit from them. The old place which was designed as a playground for children was usurped by half-grown men and rough boys who used them for base ball and foot ball games to the exclusion, of course, of all smaller fry. There is ground enough in and around the ellipse to give all ages of children every opportunity to indulge in all kinds of sports. Col. Wilson, in whose charge the grounds are put by law, well knows these facts and feels that the absence of an appropriation greatly handicaps him in his earnest desire to give the children of Washington a proper place for relaxation and exercise. The expenditure of a comparatively small sum would result in the establishment of one of the finest recreation parks for children in the country and with very little care it could be made not a nuisance but a great source of amusement and benefit. As the case now stands, the children's playground will, during the coming summer, be hardly desirable and it is not beyond reason that the President may find it a nuisance, as it might easily become. A little more thought and care in the preparation of the law would have saved this embarrassment, which can by no means be attributed to Col. Wilson, for that efficient executive officer foresaw the difficulty and urged that an appropriation be made.

It is early yet to organize for action that cannot be taken until the next Congress comes into working existence, but the immigration question is being eagerly believed in the advantage that comes from taking time by the forelock, for it has been prepared a bill which is designed to correct some of the worst evils connected with indiscriminate immigration. The bill embodies but two of the many possible remedies, namely, an increase of the head tax to be imposed upon immigrants on entering the United States to $10, and requiring immigrants between the age of fourteen and sixty years to read and write the English language. The present head-money tax of $1 is in practice collected from the steamship companies, who reimburse themselves by increasing the steerage rates. The extremely low rates of steerage passage from Europe to the United States—from $12 to $18—make it possible for almost any discontented person to come to this country, while the faras to Australia, South Africa and South America exclude most of such undesirable persons from those countries. The reading and writing qualification, it is claimed, would have excluded 10 per cent of the immigration during the year ending June 30th, 1894. The League regards this as the most important test that can be adopted as a necessary preparation for citizenship and as a merit of the bill for being easily and effectively applied.

The adjournment of Congress has damaged the news crop some, but so long as the phenomenal poker-hand story holds out there is no apprehension that it will be a total failure.

SHOOTING STARS.

Unhappily. When spring arrives the poets speak of most ecstatic terms Of flowers, zephyrs and the like, But not a word of germs.

A Convert.

"I had a long argument with Jinx this morning," said the controversial man, "and I convinced him."
"So he told me."
"Ha! He acknowledged it to you, did he?"
"Yes. He said he'd rather be convinced than talked to death, any day."

Comfort in Oblivion.

"Well," said a retired member of the Fifty-third Congress, "there's one satisfaction in the situation, after all."
"What's that?"
"The amateur sculptors won't be tempted to try their hands on a statue of me when I'm dead."

Why He Paused.

"I ought to have known better than to come here," said the departing drummer to the landlord. "I was told beforehand that it was a one-horse hotel."
"Well, there's no use of kicking now," was the placid response.
"No. I just wanted to stop long enough to express my sympathy for the horse."

A Welcome From the Tramp.

With joy I greet you, gentle spring;
You bid us smile again;
No wood nor saw; no snow nor sweep;
No coal to carry in.

That Spirit of Accuracy.

"What time does the last train leave?" asked the traveler.
And the gatekeeper at the Boston depot gave him a haughty look, and replied:
"When the road quits business."

A Scientific Problem.

With troloxicon in cream,
Trichinae in the meat,
And microbes in the atmosphere,
What shall we breathe or eat?

That Star Chamber Order.

From the New York Evening Telegram.
The President appoints the rulers of the national capital, and the awards to him alone. It matters not what the citizens may want; the Commissioners, as the rulers are termed, do as they please, so long as they do not offend the President. Several grievances have occurred of late because of this un-American way of governing the city. The last of which brought forth a howl from The Evening Star, the oldest, richest and most conservative newspaper in Washington. It comes of a rule recently passed by the Commissioners forbidding any member of the city government but the secretary of the commission to give to the press any information whatsoever concerning any subject whatever. When, in the exalted wisdom of the Commissioners—there are three of them—the press is excluded from the city, the representatives of the press will be permitted to attend any of the Commissioners' meetings, and when these are open and public, the press will be most rigidly excluded and guards placed at the doors of the Commissioners' room for that purpose. It is likely that a case of smallpox has been discovered in town; but the health officer almost had a fit when a reporter asked him for particulars of it. When he recovered himself, he expressed a personal willingness to comply, but said it might cost him his seat on the board of Commissioners. He then turned to the Commissioners, and said: "I have just received authority from the Commissioners. Just how long this sort of thing will go on is impossible to say. When The Star howls about a public building, however, something usually drops. And old, conservative citizens say that either the Commissioners will rescind the obnoxious order, and thereby give the citizens of this city an opportunity to observe the workings of the Commission; or the movement to restore the suffrage of government will roll on to a swift and certain success."

All Arranged, of Course.

From the Philadelphia Press.
The brooding of Venezuela is followed by the brooding of Nicaragua, and yet Secretary Gresham assured the country that he had arranged the Bluefields matter and that England had acquiesced. Oh, yes, of course. Acquiescence is a British trait.
